TRUE WISDOM.

A WISE general on the eve of battle makes a proper disposition of his forces beforehand, and does not wait till the enemy has made an attack, and thus, by forethought and due preparation, reasonably expects a victory; thus he who has a desire to gain a healthy and consequently happy old age, does not indolently wait for the attack of the enemy, which is disease, but is constantly on his guard, against his insidious approaches, by paying proper attention to the state of his health. Many would fain occasionally use medicine to assist nature in her operations but like a mariner let on without his compass, knowing not where to steer, they first try this and then that, and meet with nothing but disappointment; to these, how welcome must be the important fact, that Parr's Life Pills are now proved to be all that are required to conquer disease and prolong life.

BECAUSE PURIFYING THE BODY IS SIMPLE
Some do not believe it can Cure.

BE not blind—be not stiff-necked. Naaman, the Syrian was cured by bathing in the waters of Jordan; and Brandreth's Pills have attributed to them cures almost as miraculous. How different are their claims to public confidence to the medicines recommended in advertisements stolen from me. It is not the first time that wolves have worn the clothing to which they were unentitled. Let the public be on their guard; let them be very watchful, or the principles of purgation—second only to Christianity, in the benefits it is capable of bestowing on mankind—will be brought into disrepute, by the evil tendency of some of the medicines recommend to carry out its beneficial effects.

LORAINE'S PILLS:
OR
VALUABLE UNIVERSAL MEDICINE,
CURATIVE,
OF THE
French College of Health, in Paris.

THESE Pills are now acknowledged by thousands who take them daily, to be the only medicine that fairly takes the Banner from all others. This Extraordinary Medicine has actually done WONDERS within one year past all over the inhabited world within it has been introduced. They cause no pain, or uneasiness, of any kind in their operation, and require neither change of diet or care of any kind.

The attention of the readers is respectfully called to the following important results from the use of these Pills. It will be seen, however great achievements have heretofore been made by the use of this invaluable medicine,—still greater, and more remarkable cures daily happen.

SWELLING OF THE BODY FROM HEAD TO FOOT, CURED!

BOSTON, (Mass.) March 10, 1844.

SIR:—About a year since I was taken severely ill, with a swelling of the body from head to foot, so that I was entirely helpless. The doctor advised me to go to the Hospital; for he said he did not understand my case. The persuasion of friends induced me to try Dr. Loraine's Vegetable Pills, which in a few days, produced a great change in my system, by increasing the natural discharges, causing an appetite, relieving the pain, removing the swelling, and giving me strength, and a perfect cure.

MARY JANE FRANCES.

SEVERE PAIN IN BOTH SIDES, CURED!

LOWELL, (Mass) April 20, 1844.

SIR:—For the last few months I have been afflicted with a severe pain in both sides, at times so hard that I could scarcely get my breath. It is a pleasure to feel well—but a much greater one to say that I was cured immediately upon taking 1 dose of Dr Loraine's Pills. J. BROOKS.

A HACKING COUGH CONSTANTLY ANNOYED ME!

BOSTON, (Mass) June 1, 1844.

SIR:—In February last, I took a sudden cold, after which a hacking cough constantly annoyed me, and this, combined with my other maladies, rendered me truly miserable, as every body told me that I was in a consumption. Since I have taken Loraine's Pills, and now every body tells me that I am well.—I feel as well as ever I did.

Never till lately did we believe that there was any thing that would restore hair on bald heads; but the proof that we have seen that OLDRIDGE'S BALM OF COLUMBIA, from Comstock & Ross, 52 Cornhill, will do it, is incontestible. We have seen a friend, who is seventy years of age, and was for twenty years perfectly bald, who has had his hair restored with this balm, and numerous instances of a similar kind have lately come to our notice, which induces us to recommend it to all who are losing their hair. For our part, we would not be without this balm on any account.

Highly Important to all Invalids & friends of Invalids.
THE AFFLICTED IN DANGER!
SALUTARY CAUTION.
READ! READ!!

THE well established and well-earned reputation of WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS, as a Sovereign antidote, and cure in cases of Fevers, Head Aches, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Dysentery, Colic, Female Complaints, &c. &c has excited the cupidity and envy of the proprietors of other medicines, and since their admirable qualities cannot be impugned, has arrayed against them the antagonist efforts of men who seek to pass off other medicines by the reputation of Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills.

Beware of all attempts to palm off any (so called) specifics by means of specious sounding and deceptive titles. "SUGAR COATED PILLS" may be pleasant to the palate, but it requires something more than an agreeable exterior to combat with disease. We shall not attempt to analyze the composition of the "Sugar Coated or pretended improved Indian Vegetable Pills," which have been thrown into the market and advertised extensively in the country paper—we have no desire to do so—nor is it necessary. It is, however, our duty to assure the public emphatically, that they are not an improvement on WRIGHT'S Indian Vegetable Pills, and that, whoever purchases them under this supposition is wofully deceived. This caution is positively necessary, since the title (nearly) the qualities set forth, the combination of ingredients, &c, are all those which formed the distinctive and original character of the true medicine.

Remember, buy none but "WRIGHT'S Indian Vegetable Pills," which are protected by a patent. They have attained an almost incredible sale and circulation owing altogether to their own intrinsic merits. The public will pass its own judgment upon any attempt to snatch the Laurel from the brow of the inventor of these medicines where it has been placed by grateful thousands who owe their continuance of the enjoyment of the blessings of health to his happy and benevolent agency.

Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills

have performed wonders when used in cases of Intermitent, Remitent, Nervous, Inflammatory and Putrid Fevers, Measles, Small Pox and Erysipelas; Inflammations of the Brain, throat, stomach, lungs, liver intestines, kidneys and bladder; pains in the stomach, back and side; consumption, dropsy of the head, of the chest, of the abdomen and of the limbs, scrofula, scurvy and syphilis; cancer, gravel, loss of appetite; sick headache; rheumatism; both acute and chronic; spitting of blood; diarrhœa, dysentery and colics; syncope, apolexy and paralysis, dyspepsia, hypochrondriasis, epilepsy, hooping cough, Palpitation of the heart; ulcers and sores of every description, hysterics, weak nerves and low spirits, suppression, and other delicate Female Complaints.

No other medicines ever discovered has grappled these horrid forms of disease with such general success. They derive thus powerfully THE EMPLOYMENT OF NATURAL MEANS TO COUNTERACT THE EVILS OF NATURE. The bowels of the earth have not been ransacked for poisonous minerals to infect the system under the pretence of eradicating disease. The Field and the Forrest alone have been searched for materials for the healing art. From these have been collected remedies attacking the various forms of disease, and expelling it by the outlets provided by the author of our Being—the Lungs, the Skin, the Kidneys and the Bowels. Hence Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills, based upon the curative mode suggested by nature, are Sudorific, Diuretic, Expectorant and Purgative.

The ORIGIN of this invaluable medicine entitles it to unlimited confidence and respect. The nearer we approach to nature, in our researches after truth both in science and art, the more complete will be our success in both. Look at the uniform physical condition of the Indian Tribes of this continent, whether exposed to the frosts and storms of the North, or to the rain, heat, and pestilential miasma of Southern climate. Houseless, unprotected, exposed to every atmospheric change, every extreme of the seasons dwelling at times in morasses and by the margins of unhealthy pools and swamps—they yet enjoy an almost total immunity from disease, while the white man, who enjoys all the comforts of civilization, with its attendant arts, is as much inferior to the savage in physical vigor, as he is superior to him in intellectual acquisitions.—How does this happen? Simply because, bereft of the light of science, he relies upon that divine instict which impels him to select from the produce of the field and forest those remedies which Nature and Nature's God has bounteously provided for the solace of suffering, and the mitigation and cure of disease—sowing them broadcast on every hill and valley. Let those who impiously arraign the good justice of Divine Providence, and point with a sneer to the multitude of invalids who lie groaning upon beds of sickness, turn from the false lights of man, and study the secrets of nature, and they will adore that mercy which has so bountifully provided a cure for every wound—a remedy for all who seek one.

Disease rarely assumes one form from another, even in any one case—hence the absurdity of attacking it by one uncompounded medicine. But Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills combining a remedy for every form of disease, attacks successfully any combination of malady. This union of powers render these pills thoroughly cleansing in their nautre and operations. They cannot fail of affording relief if taken according to directions accompanying them. They may be freely resorted to in the most desperate cases of the most desperate disorders, for they have effected remarkable and marvellous cures. They are applicable to a wide range of diseases and their use is not confined to any particular age, or to either sex. They are now triumphantly established beyond the reach of cavil and the only danger that exists is on the part of the public, lest they should suffer from imitations, spurious Pills, palmed off by the help of titles similar to that of the genuine Pills. Therefore, we once more caution the public against purchasing any but the

GENUINE
"WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS."

These Pills, as we before remarked, operate by purgation—by thoroughly cleansing the entire system from all impurities, and making the invalid, in the homely but expressive phrase, 'a new man'; whether the disease is INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, which insidiously attacks the Lungs, producing that dry, hacking cough so painful to the friendly ear, or Cutaneous, showing itself upon the skin in eruptions or blotches; whether the Kidneys or the Bowels be affected—Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills are equally efficacious in warding off danger. Their expectorant cathartic, sudorific and diuretic qualities enable them to take hold of each form of disease.

The perfect safety of the medicine is another all important quality, and one which has contributed more than any thing else to its extension and popularity.

In a word, this medicine commends itself strongly to the patronage of the public, and its use bids fair to become before long, ALMOST UNIVERSAL.

NEW PRINCIPLES OF PURGATION.
CORNARO'S
Purifying and Preserving PILLS.

THE American public has for a long time been the victim of a false and dangerous system of medicine founded on the practice of LONG CONTINUED AND UNRELIEVED PURGATION. The evils of this old system are of the most widespread and alarming character. They have reached through every vein and artery of our nation.—In every city, and village, and hamlet in every State and Territory of our vast Republic will be found those who have suffered, or who are still suffering from the injurious effects of this old system, of whose practical utility the disease, decay, and utter prostration of those who test it furnish the most condemning proofs!

COMMON DRASTIC PURGATION

Scours out the system by the most improper and violent means, and then leave it, weak, low, feeble, debilitated, to regain its strength as best it may.—Sometimes the consequences of this old Purgative practice are worse than mere Debility. Inflammation of the Bowels, Slow Fever, Bloody Piles, and other horrible disorders are produced, simply from the want of some enlivening and preserving power in the medicine employed. Sometimes the digestive organs are deeply and permanently injured by this coarse and unphilosophical practice, leaving the patient AN INVALID FOR LIFE.

The alarming evils and absurdities of the old system of Purgation, have led to the introduction of a new Life-giving Medicine, called CORNARO'S PURIFYING AND PRESERVING PILLS, which are established on this new and only true principle of Purgation, viz:

NO PURGATION WITHOUT IMMEDIATE RESTORATION.

The use of this admirable Purgative remedy strikes a death blow to that abominable system, which by continually evacuating the bowels without any conservative or saving power, so dreadfully and fearfully prostrates and injures the unhappy patient. These Purifying and Preserving Pills are believed to constitute the perfection of medicine, being a UNIVERSAL VEGETABLE PURGATIVE, containing two great remedies combined, viz: One remedy to PURIFY FROM CORRUPTION, and another to PRESERVE FROM INJURY AND DECAY.

And for the purpose of attaining the highest degree of purity in the preparation of these Pills, Dr. Bradlee has, at a vast expenditure of time and money, invented and patented at Washington, a chemical and philosophical apparatus for distilling and refining vegetable extracts, called

THE SEVEN-FOLD FURNACE,

A powerful and novel machine—having Seven Fires and Seven Alembics, with distilling, condensing, and evaporating fixtures of a new and ingenious contrivance, capable of obtaining more than seven times the ordinary purity of any vegetable extract heretofore used in compounding medicine. The Balsamic and Preserving power of these Pills is also, by this invention, highly purified and refined, and so mingled with the operative medicine, that it repairs all the injuries created by Purgation as soon as they are caused, and strongly fortifies the system against future corruption and decay.

Let the public be no longer deceived by the advertisements of the "one remedy" doctors, who show their entire ignorance of the organic laws of the human system by supposing that a medicine which purges merely, without renovating or preserving, can be a perfect remedy. For it is a fixed and immutable law of our being that there should be, in no case, Purgation without immediate Restoration; and hence it follows, and is proved to demonstration, that all Purgatives which DO NOT possess a saving and preserving power, are injurious, and injurious only—and possess NOT ONE REDEEMING QUALITY.

The whole theory of common drastic Purgation is based upon unnatural and absurd laws, and they who follow it fall victims to their own folly, and too late repent their temerity.

☞BEWARE OF UNRELIEVED PURGATION! Purge and Preserve, or do not attempt to Purge at all.

☞The celebrated PURIFYING AND PRESERVING PILLS purify the body from corruption and preserve it from injury and decay by a single operation. They are a Universal Vegetable Purgative, of sovereign use in all diseases of the system in which purgation is required, particularly in Jaundice, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Eruptions of the Skin, Scrofula, Piles, Costiveness, Bilious Disorders, Liver Complaint, Fevers, Nervous Disorders, Inward Weakness, Cholic, Dysentery, Worms, Gout, Rheumatism, Female Complaints, Depression of Spirits, Debility of System, Fits, &c. &c.

☞Price 25 cents per Box, with full directions, Essay on Health and Long Life, &c.

MIESCLLANEOUS.
A Warning Cry.
BY MISS SHERIDAN CAREY.

TOILING from the morning gray—
Toiling, toiling through the day,
Till the spirit faints away,
Bound, in triple-iron, bound:
By the taper's famished light,
Toiling, toiling, through the night,
Till the dimmed and aching sight
Sees but shadows gathering round,—

Till the lip's warm hue is gone—
Till the brow is worn and wan—
Till the pitying sun looks on
Gasping slaves in stupor cast;—
Toiling through the hours of pain,
Taxing hand, and heart, and brain,
Bread—and scarcely bread—to gain:
Shall this—shall this ever last?

Shall the spoiler seize by stealth
Youth, and hope, and strength, and health?
Nature's dowry—nature's wealth—
Shall they—shall they ever be—
Youth and hope, an April beam?
Strength, delusion? health, a dream?
Age—a fearful ghastly theme—
Pain, and grief, and penury?

Thou who seest! Thou who hearest!
Thou the mourner's heart who cheerest!
Thou who, veiled in clouds, appearest
Swift, and terrible, and strong!
Unto Thee, with stony eye,
Bloodless cheek, and boding cry,
Doomed to toil, and toil or DIE,
Want appealeth, "Lord, how long?"

Ye whose "confidence" is gold,
False, rapacious, crafty, bold—
Who the laborer's hire withhold—
Who the fruits of toil deny—
Who the starving poor distress,
Who the weak, the old, oppress—
Tremble! they shall have redress,
Lo! their groans are heard on high!

Tremble! tremble! well ye may—
Godless tyrants of a day—
Trampling on your fellow clay!
Trampling human hearts to dust!
Vengeance is the Lord's! beware!
He will list the poor man's prayer,
Raise the crushed, and chase despair!
Tyrants wo, THE LORD IS JUST!

THE USEFUL FAMILY.

On removing, some time ago, to a new quarter of the town, where I was an entire stranger, one of my first objects was to look out for a respectable grocer with whom we might deal for family necessaries. With this object in view, I, one day, shortly after our settlement in our new domicile, sallied out on an exploratory expedition, through our own and some of the adjoining streets, in order, in the first place, to see what like were the general run of shops in our neighborhood. The result of this tour was to narrow the matter of selection to three shops of respectable appearance, which of these, however, I should eventually patronize, I did not at the moment determine, as I always like to do things deliberately. This deliberation, then rendered another tour of observation necessary.

On this second excursion, seeing nothing, even after a very careful survey, in the externals of either of the three shops to decide my final choice, I resolved, in the conceit of a pretty ready appreciation of character, on being guided by the result of a glance at the general personal appearance of the respective shopkeepers. On pretence, then, of examining a certain box of Turkey figs that lay in the window of one of the shops in question, I took a furtive peep at the gentleman behind the counter. I didn't like his looks at all. He was a thin, starved, hungry looking fellow, with a thin, sharp, red nose, and I thought, altogether, a sort of person likely to do a little business, in the short weight way with those who dealt with him. I thought, too, from the glance I took of his head, that there was a deficiency in his bump of conscientiousness. Him, therefore, I struck off the list, and proceeded to the next.

This man was, in all personal respects, the very opposite of the other; he was a fat, gruff, savage looking monster, from whom I did not think much civility was to be expected, nor did I like the set in which I found him, when I peeped through the window. He was throwing a it basket at the head of his apprentice. Probably was deserved, but I did not like the choler it exhibited—so I passed on to the third.

Here was a jolly, pleasant, matronly looking woman for shop keeper. I was taken with her appearance, so in I popped, and we soon came to an understanding. I opened negotiations by the purchase of a couple of pounds of tea, a proper quantity of sugar, and several other little odds and ends, for which I had a commission from my wife. We found the articles excellent, our worthy, jolly groceress civil and obliging; and all, therefore, so far as this went, was right.

The grocer, however, although a most convenient sort of personage, cannot supply all the wants of a family; there is another, still more essential, inasmuch as he is necessary not only to our comfort, but almost to our existence—the baker. We still wanted a baker; and not knowing where to look for one, we applied to our obliging groceress. The worthy woman seemed delighted with the inquiry—we wondered why; she thus solved the mystery.

Why, sir, she said, my son's a baker; his shop is just a little further on. He will be very happy to supply you, and I undertake to warrant his giving you every satisfaction.

Well pleased to find that our little expenditures would—at least so far as the addition of bread went—be still kept in the family, we proceeded forthwith to the shop of the baker. It was a very respectable looking one, and the baker, himself a civil, obliging fellow, so we settled matters with him on the instant.

It was, I think, somewhere about three weeks after this, that our servant girl brought, along with a quantity of butter for which she had been sent to Mrs. Aikenside's—the name by the way, of our worthy groceress—a very handsome card, which ran thus—

"Miss Jane Aikenside begs to intimate to her friends and public, that she has begun business in the millinery and dress making line, and that every care and attention will be bestowed in the execution of all orders with which she may be favored." At the bottom of the card—"Availing herself of this opportunity, Miss Mary Aikenside takes the liberty of announcing, that she continues to instruct young ladies in music, on the terms formerly advertised, namely, two guineas per quarter, of three lessons per week."

Aikenside! said I, on perusing the card; who are they, these Misses Aikenside?

Relations of the grocer, I dare say, said my wife. We inquired, and found they were her daughters.

Very fortunate, said my wife; I was just at a loss where I should go with the girl's new frocks and my own. We can't do better than to give them to Mrs Aikenside's daughters.

I thought so too, and, moreover, said so, but being a matter not within my province, I interferred no further in it. My wife, however, lost no time in calling on Miss Aikenside, who carried on her business in her mother's house, which was immediately over the shop. The interview was satisfactory to both parties. My wife was much pleased with both the appearance and manners of Miss Aikenside, and with the specimens of work which she submitted. The childrens' frocks and the gown were, therefore, immediately put in her hands. The work was well done, my wife said, she had not seen more accurate fits for a long time; so, from this date, Miss Aikenside got all our millinery to do.

The intercourse which this brought on between the female members of the two families afforded my wife and daughter an opportunity of hearing Miss Mary Aikenside's performances on the piano—for she, too, resided with her mother,—with which they were all delighted; she was, they said, an excellent performer; my wife adding, that it was now full time that our two eldest girls had begun music (of which indeed we had been thinking for some time previously,) we might just send at once to Miss Aikenside. I offered no objection, but, on the contrary, was very glad that we could yet further patronise the very respectable family whose services we had already found so useful; so to Miss Mary Aikenside our two daughters were sent to learn music; and very rapid progress they subsequently made under her tuition.

It was only now—that is, after my two girls had begun music with Miss Aikenside—that I began to perceive the oddity of the circumstance of having so many of our wants supplied by one family; for I may as well add the baker who was unmarried, also lived with his mother. But this was an oddity to be rendered yet more remarkable.

Mrs Aikenside, my good lady, said I, on dropping one day into the shop, you were good enough, besides furnishing us with what you dealt in yourself, to tell us where we could be supplied with what you did not deal in. You told us where to find a baker, now can you tell where we shall find a shoemaker—a respectable shoemaker.

Mrs. Aikenside laughed. My husband, sir, said, she, is a shoemaker, and will be much obliged to you for any employment you may be pleased to put in his way.

I now laughed too; for the idea was becoming, I thought, exceedingly amusing. A shoemaker, is he, said I; that's rather odd, but fortunate, too. Where is his shop? where does the work?

Oh, he has no shop; shop rents are so high. He works up stairs in the house; he has a small room set apart for the purpose. Will you walk up and see him, sir, if you please? she added pointing to an inside stair, which conducted from the shop to the story above.

I did so; and found Mr. Aikenside, a very respectable looking man, hard at work in the midst of two or three journeymen and apprentices. He had seen me several times in the shop before, so he knew me.

Mr. Aikenside, said I, I want a little work done in your way.

Most happy to serve you sir, said Mr. Aikenside.

It is but a small matter, though—hardly worth your attention, I doubt; but better things will probably follow.

Don't matter what it is, sir don't matter how trifling. Glad and ready to do anything in my way however small; always thankful for employment.

Then, sir, we shall deal, said I. There's a parcel of my youngsters' shoes at home that stand in need of repairing.

Send them over sir, and they shall be done to your satisfaction; or I'll send one of these lads for them directly.

Here was an active, prompt, thorough-going tradesman, then—one who seemed to know what he was about, and who, I had no doubt, would do his work well; just, in short, such a man as I wanted.

I was altogether much pleased with the man, and could not help laughingly remarking to him the oddity of my finding so many of the wants of life supplied by one family. There, said I, is the grocer, the baker, the milliner, the teacher of music, and the shoemaker, all in one family all living together.

Ay, but you have forgot one—there's another still to add, said Mr. Aikenside, appreciating the humor of the thing. We can furnish you with a tailor too; and as good a hand, I will say it, though he be my own son, as any in town, be the other who he may.

Bless my soul, a tailor too! said I; where is this to end? Pray, where does he sit out?

Why, sir, in the next room; and he went to the door and called out—Jim, Jim, I say, come here a moment.

Jim came—a smart; and although in the loose dishabille of his calling, genteel-looking lad.

Here, continued Mr. Aikenside, addressing his son—here is a gentleman who dosn't say he wants anything in your way just now, but who may, probably do so by and by.

Jim bowed politely and not ungracefully, and saying he would be proud of any little share of my employment which I should see fit to afford him, put a handsomely embossed card into my hand, with his name and other particulars relative to his business.

The childrens' shoes were sent to the father; they were promptly and well done, and the consequence was, that we henceforth employed him to make and mend for us.

The experiment of a suit for one of my boys was soon after made of the son's skill as a workman. It was satisfactory—more than satisfactory. He, therefore, was instantly dubbed our tailor, and from this time given all our work, both old and new.

Whig and Courier.

JOHN S. SAYWARD, Editor.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 18, 1844.

The Self-Instructor.

There is a paper published in New York with the above title edited by that indefatigable teacher and philosopher, Josiah Holbrook. In the columns of this paper the science of Geology is unfolded in its elementary character—an Alphabet of this great subject is suggested so simple and significant that almost any child can make himself familiar with it in a few weeks. An acquaintance with this natural alphabet must give pupils great facilities in making progress. The great volume of nature is everywhere open before them and they have in their possession the means of reading its strong teachings from the pebble to the great globe itself. Mr H. insists that all true education must be self-education and that when true knowledge of real things is the object of pursuit, there is no flagging on the part of the pupil as is almost invariably the case when pursuing the arbitrary signs of knowledge in written language. The lesson should be well selected from the volume of nature and then books of description and illustration come in to supply a want and are seized and mastered with relish as a means of leading to a desirable end, instead of being considered as a dark and mysterious end in themselves.

These views are happily illustrated in the science of Geometry, so vast that the highest intellect has not yet discovered all its relations and uses and yet so simple that the little child may comprehend many of its principles. Every child may have his mind quickened to become deeply interested in this subject by being furnished with slate and pencil, or paper and pen and a few simple figures of Geometry. With these, the child commences drawing and in this exercise is educating the eye and the hand, improving [illegible] acquainted with the principles and use of the square and familiar with geometrical figures, and at the same time is reaping the highest gratification from the pursuit, independent of all these advantages, but merely as a pleasurable exercise. The education of the eye and of the hand in drawing is well illustrated by the present state of the Prussian Schools. Hon. Horace Mann who visited Europe for the purpose of making a survey of the school systems there and the modes of teaching, says that such excellent hand writing as he saw in the Prussian schools he never saw before. He attributes this excellence in a great degree to the universal practice of learning to draw cotemporaneously with learning to write; and gives it as his opinion, after what he had observed, that a child will learn both to draw and write sooner and with more ease, than he will learn to write alone.

With these advantages resulting from drawing we hope to see this branch introduced at once in the Apprentices' School in this city, to every pupil in which it must be of value, and of essential importance to them should they become architects, engineers, draughtsmen, moulders, machine builders or indeed master mechanics of any kind. We think this School would furnish a good test of the value and feasibility of dreawing in our public schools, and that the young men there would not only become deeply interested in it but throw a charm around it, sufficient to secure its early introduction into all our schools.

We think the plan of showing men how they may educate themselves among the most important work in which men can be engaged, except, perhaps, proving that it is possible for them so to do. The educational course recommended, illustrated and enforced by Mr Holbrook, of making the pursuit of knowledge by the young attractive, by its utility and reality is, indeed, a sublime idea—the true sublimity of nature undimmed by false views and bad fashions.

☞The letter containing money noticed in our columns as having been found on Exchange Steet proves to be the property of Mr. Samuel K. White of Exeter and was sent to this city by his son, who is at work in Lowell Mass., the money being forwarded for the payment of some real estate. The letter was found by the son of the editor and has at length reached its true owner, who, though a poor man rewarded the boy for his fidelity.

There are some circumstances connected with this letter which we mention for the purpose of putting people on their guard in writing and directing important letters. There was no signature to the letter, thus rendering it very difficult, if not impossible, to trace it back to the writer. Its direction was to "Samuel K. White Bangor," when it should have been directed, to have accorded with what we understand to have been the intention of the writer, thus:—"Mr. Samuel K. White, Exeter, Me. Care of Edward Snow Esq. Bangor Maine." The letter had no Post mark or Express mark, but the word "Paid," was printed with red ink near the corner, as though it had passed through some Post, or Express office. The letter was carelessly dropped by the side of the street and thus the person having it in charge placed a hard working young man in danger of losing several months wages and his poor parents of losing the substantial aid the money was intended to secure to them.

If these hints shall serve to make people more careful in signing and directing their letters and in delivering those in their charge, our object in writing these remarks will be attained.

A young American lady being asked by a boring politician which party she was most in favor of, replied that she preferred a wedding party.

☞A correspondent of the Mercantile Journal tells the women that "they should be one and all careful to attend to their clothing at this changeable season. Fur shoes, when out of doors, and flannel garments constantly worn next the skin, we are convinced would lessen the number of victims to that all-devouring disease, consumption, which weekly swells the bills of mortality in our city to such an extent. Warm cloaks and a proper covering for the head too, on returning from evening parties, would no doubt have saved many a lovely creature from an untimely grave. Let us then entreat of those who are not sufficiently careful in these particulars, to establish a rule, never to expose themselves to the weather, without proper precaution, and assure those of delicate constitution that the article of clothing we have above recommended, is one of the best conservatives in this variable climate."

☞We received a note from Rev. Mr. Hobart at too late an hour last evening for insertion in this morning's paper. It will appear to-morrow.

☞The Mercantile Journal states that Messrs Geo W Warren & Co of Boston have recently suffered inconvenience with H Pettes & Co of the same city from advertising. The number of customers in their store at once, was upwards of four hundred; and the number of bills of parcels made out for goods during two days last week was 3,010.

☞Charles J. Ingersol is trying to write down John Quincy Adams by an extra amount of windy sarcasm. It is the best specimen of gnawing a file that has been witnessed for a long time.

Petition to the Legislature.

We are requested to call the attention of our readers to a petition which may be found at the Bookstores, asking the Legislature of our State to pass a Law for the effectual suppression of the Traffic of Intoxicating drinks, by wholesome penalties of Fine and Imprisonment.

☞The locos possess the peculiar faculty of turning to advantage either the fortune or misfortune of their "President elect." From an article in a locofoco paper we extract the following:

"We understand that Mrs. Polk's maiden name was Childress, the daughter of Judge Childress, of Tennessee. They have no children, and thus the President Elect is able to devote more of his precious time to the interests of his country."

The most sedate will smile at this.

☞Mr S Alden at the Thomsonian Depot has a stimulating conserve of Hollyhock that is one of the best articles for hoarseness and cough that we are acquainted with.

BY LAST NIGHT'S MAIL.

Important from Mexico.

The Galveston News of Nov. 29 states that another revolution has broken out in several of the Mexican States. It was reported at Vera Cruz, when the Woodbury left, that nearly one half of the Mexican army had revolted, and declared against Santa Anna, they are under the command of Paredes at Gaudalajara.

The citizens of Vera Cruz were on the look-out for the Mexican steamers from New York. Great anxiety was expressed throughout the country on account of their long stay in the United States. Many entertained fears of their being captured by Uncle Sam.

We learn also that there is an influential interest in the country, and especially in Mexico and Vera Cruz, at the head of which is the British Minister, who urge that the people of Mexico are not capable of a free government, and that Santa Anna is the only man who can give stability to the government. Now the British Minister has gone so far as to notify the British Consul General, and through him all British merchants, that in case they pay over any duties to Paredes, or to any of Santa Anna's opponents, his government will not protect them against the process which Santa Anna may adopt to compel a repayment.

The Congress having voted unanimously, approving Mr Rejon's letters to Governor Shannon, therefore, whichever party succeeds, the war against Texas will be used as the excuse for levying men and money, to keep them in power. The probability is that Santa Anna will prevail.

Santa Anna is on his march towards Mexico with about 6000 men, and at the last accounts was near the city; but the desertions from his ranks had been immense. One regiment numbering 800 men, had been reduced to its officers and four privates by this means. The cause of the Dictator certainly looks desperate, and many confidently look for his overthrow. It is even stated that some 30,000 of the inhabitants of Mexico have declared against him, and he purposes receiving protection in Vera Cruz; but the gates of that city, it was expected, would be closed against him. This intelligence wants confirmation.

☞The snow at Greenport, Long Island, and thirty miles to the westward of it, is from ten to twelve feet deep. Seven locomotives, at last accounts, were at work clearing the railroad track.

☞A series of strong anti-Texas resolutions have been introduced into the Ohio Senate, by Mr Perkins.

☞The whigs of Boston have nominated Thomas Wetmore, Esq. as the Whig Candidate for Mayor, to be supported at the election on Monday next.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON Dec. 12.

In the Senate several memorials were presented for the payment of French spoliations prior to 1800.

A resolution was adopted calling for the correspondence between the State Department and our minister at France; and another for information as to the disposal of the public money.

Mr. Phelps offered a resolution which lies over for definite information relative to the debt of Texas, and also the amount of lands granted. Adj. to Monday

In the House, the Constitutions of Iowa and of Florida were ordered to be printed.

Several petitions touching the subject of Slavery were presented, and received opposition from the Southern members. Mr. Giddings presented a memorial praying Congress to repeal all laws that require the inhabitants of the free states to defend the institutions of Slavery.—It was passed over as subject to debate.

DECEMBER 13.

The Senate did not sit.

In the House the bill providing for the election of President was under consideration and various amendments were proposed and lost Adj to Monday.

☞THOMAS MORRIS, Liberty party candidate for Vice President, died at his residence near Cincinnati on Saturday the 6th inst.

☞Opinions of the press.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. Wherever this medicine is introduced, it at once attains that high reputation which it so richly deserves. What can stop its sale, when on every hand can be witnessed its wonderful cures? The worst cases of Asthma, recent but dangerous Coughs, (and also those that are of long standing,) Bronchitis and Consumption, (in its early stages,) are always cured by this remarkable medicine. Cincinnati Inquirer.

Dr Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.—According to a number of recommendations in our possession, from doctors and other individuals, and from a knowledge of the benefits derived from the use of it by some of our neighbors, we respectfully recommend it to families.—We have made use of the Balsam ourselves, and found that it produced such effects as recommended.

Competition of Business is the Life of Business!

SCENE AT THE BANGOR HOUSE.

SCENE 1st.

ENTER STRANGER—Can you inform me where I shall go to find the Main Pillar of Oak Hall?

CITIZEN—Yes, sir, at No. 15 West-Market Place.

STRANGER—I understand he sells good Clothing at remarkably low prices.

CIT.—I know that, sir, from experience; I purchased an entire black suit of him for $15 the same kind I last purchased which I had to pay $25 for and it seems as though I could never wear them out.

STRAN.—Receive my thanks.—(EXIT STRANGER.)

SCENE 2d.

MAIN PILLAR OF OAK HALL, PLACE,—15 West-Market Place,—BANGOR.

"CLEAR THE TRACK."

ENTER STRANGER—Salesman. How do you do, sir? What can we show you, sir, in the shape of Clothing?

STRANGER Is this the Main Pillar of Oak Hall?

SALESMAN—Yes, sir.

STRAN.—My friends have bought of you and they all say you are the cheapest and fairest man to deal with in Bangor. I want you to show me a good suit of cloths.

Stranger purchases leaving delighted with his good fit, and politeness shown by the salesmen and astonished at having so good a suit of cloths at so small a sum of money.

Keep the Ball Rolling!

Custom-Made Clothing at Auction Prices.

Owing to the vast multitude who have for the past month visited the

EMPORIUM OF FASHION,

OR

Main Pillar of Oak Hall,

It is expected that upwards of 10,000 will visit this Popular Establishment the ensuing winter, and the Proprietor begs leave to inform them that he has made ANOTHER ADDITION to his extensive sales room and will be able to clothe all that may favor him with a call. The reason why Clothing can be sold at this Establishment so much Lower than at any other place is this, my retail sales are about ten times the amount of any other Clothing Store in Bangor, and we adhere strictly to our motto:

"Large Sales Small Profits."

The following is a list of some of my remarkably low prices:

Good Frock and Dress Coats, from	7 to $14,00
Good Over Coats, from	3 to $18,00
500 Sacks, good article,	8.50
Spanish Cloak, from	5 to 16,00
1000 pairs Doeskin Pants, from	3 to 1,50
150 Rich fig'd Silk Velvet Vests,	3,50.
800 fig'd silk and satin Vests,	2,25
650 Valencia Vests, good article,	1.00
300 common Velencia,	75
A large lot of Boys' Vests,

FURNISHING ARTICLES will be sold at about the customer's own price.

☞WHOLESALE DEALERS will find at this Establishment every description of

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

IN ANY QUANTITY.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT.

Overcoats, Sacks, Vests, Pants of every size and quality, will be found here at astonishing low prices—together with hundreds of other articles too numerous to mention.

Grand Illumination every evening until further notice.

Beware of Imposition!

Caution, not to mistake the Place,

As since my place of business has become so noted, as the Largest and Cheapest Clothing Establishment, under the name of

Main Pillar of Oak Hall,

An attempt may be made in Bangor, Boston, or elsewhere to impose upon the public by assuming the name I have adopted, leading the community astray and causing them to believe that their's is the far famed MAIN PILLAR OF OAK HALL, where Clothing is made in the best style, and sold at such extremely LOW PRICES.
